BY GUS MALBERT.
Everything but a triple play marked today's game. The Highlanders, the Colts' falling by the wayside, under an avalanche of bingles, which netted thirteen counts for the visitors against two for our boys. It was one of those delightful games to witness. You know the kind, with the wind blowing a safe and sand finding a peaceful resting place in your eyes and the ball players, at least those of the home team, all bandaged up or covered with ointment so as to get the soreness out, and the pitchers just able to get the ball to the plate, and the star hitter of the club—McCabe, on his way home, suffering from all kinds of illness—oh, it was a joyful occasion, and we lost.

Griffin managed to remark last night that he was just able, to toddle about, having wasted most of his strength dodging base hits yesterday. Just one feature was pleasing. The fans who journeyed to the yard were of one mind—what a good thing it was that the regulars didn't come to town. Davis, one of the latest arrivals, was sent out in the middle to start, but ere he was through the first inning he had walked three men, been found for four hits, including a triple made by his own cohort, and had been counted against four times. Not a bad record for a beginning. But Griff kept him at work another session in order to give George Zinn an opportunity to drive one good for a trip around the horn. In the first inning, he, in fact, had done all the damage was done after two of the Yankees had retired gracefully to the bench.

Camburn was the next recruit to step on the firing line. He was whooped and allowed just two hits. Another bombardment started in his last appearance three hits resulting in just as many runs. Following Camburn, who has the greatest geyser delivery in the league, came a portaway. Two hits in as many innings counted twice. Brady, the big fellow, closed the evening's entertainment by being touched up for three hits and three scores the first inning he worked. That was all of the scoring for the Rookies. Enough, you say, well, make it unanimous.

The Colts looked worse than they have year. It is probably due to the lurching of the boys. As has been said in this column before, the boys started at too fast a clip at the beginning and are now paying the penalty of the pace. Only once during the game yesterday did they appear the same youngsters who had played well in the club to a gratifying extent. It happened in the fifth, when Raley, Lucia and Willie Baker each hit safe and tallied twice on an error by Jack Appleby, the original white hope catcher of the Highlanders. At all other times the game, from a local standpoint, was listless, slow and uninteresting. Yet the exhibition games count for little. It will take a few days more to tell just who is who.

McCabe's absence is felt for more than one reason. He was regarded as a fixture on the club, together with Flournoy. These two, with three or four good youngsters to pick from for the third order defense job, would have made things pretty nice. Now Griff-

An must go along with one of his youngsters in the outfield. Neither Charles nor Mattie has reported. Mattie is sick in bed, and Steve has not heard from Charles. Naturally this disarranges everything, and it was noted in the game yesterday.

Steve will use Baker at short today, letting young Cable take a rest. Cable's weakness seems to be at the bat. He has a crouching habit, bad in a youngster, and stood like a cigar store sign yesterday, while Fred Westervelt called him out twice on grove balls. In the field the boy is a veritable demon, with a whip like iron and fast as the grass mowers. Steve isn't yet decided who will go to right. Sperry played the part yesterday, but he is entirely too light for the work out there. He has shown little with the stick yet, which would be the one and only reason why he could be of service in the outfield.

It is highly probable that Charley Strain, the local amateur, will pitch the game to-day. Steve was after him last night. With all of his pitchers lame or sick, he is anxious that the regulars should be able to do the job, and show what he can do. Strain, from the several occasions on which this dopster has seen him work, is as good as any flinger Steve now has in camp, and, without disparaging the ability of the regulars, has good habits, a splendid head for a youngster, is always anxious and willing to work and has speed to burn, quite a good combination for a pitcher seeking to break into fast company. Lenthorn arrived yesterday, and he will be in no condition to work this afternoon.

So far as the game itself is concerned, the least said is the soonest. Out of charity to the boys and in justice to them, the bad showing yesterday should be forgotten. Look over the box score appended and you can tell how most of it happened. The score:

MONTREAL DEFEATS VIRGINIA, 10 TO 3

International Leaguers Enj y Batting Matinee
at Expense of Freshmen Twirlers—Rixey
Finally Called In to End the Game.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Charlottesville, Va., April 1.—The Montreal Club of the International League, who here, played its first exhibition game to-day, defeating Virginia 10 to 3 in a seven-inning contest.
The Royals enjoyed quite a batting matinee at the expense of the young college twirlers. Freshmen pitchers were used up, and finally in the seventh inning, with the bases clean full, Rixey had been called in to finish the contest.
Virginia started off with a football battery. Fullback Goodhue in the box and Quarterback Good at bat, which did not prove of much force. Gammon was the next offering. He passed French and the next two batters, Nattress and Connolly, each counted the ball for the circuit. Grant next took a turn and got off better than his predecessors. Todd was being touched up pretty freely when a hurry call was sent for Rixey, who held the Canadians hitless. Rixey scored twice in the fourth, with French and Nattress, and both tallied on French's third single to right. In the seventh, Nattress walked, stole second, was out on a throw to first, and came on to Rixey's long fly, which Rixey barely touched on the dead run. Rixey was called at the plate on the plate on the plate.
Carrier, the big football guard, made his debut as a catcher near the end of the contest, and made a splendid impression.
The leading feature was the splendid catch of French's long fly in the seventh. Hewitt's catch of Smith's short fly in the same inning.
Virginia plays St. John's tomorrow. To-

OXFORD WINS BY SIX LENGTHS FROM CAMBRIDGE IN BOAT RACE

VICTORIOUS OXFORD CREW IN ITS EIGHT-OARED SHELL.

Dark Blues Take Lead in First Half-Mile and Supremacy Is Never Threatened.

Putney, England, April 1.—Oxford to-day won with the greatest ease the sixty-ninth annual boat race between the eight-oared crews representing the University of Oxford and the University of Cambridge, over the usual course on the Thames from Putney to Mortlake.

The dark blue finished six lengths ahead of their rivals, their time for the entire course of four miles and a quarter being twenty-two minutes five seconds.

Instead of the fast stroke of Saturday, Cambridge began with an average of thirty strikes to the minute, while Oxford rowed a steady thirty-two to the minute, which was maintained as though the crew was simply on a practice row, the shell stepping through the water quietly and swiftly.

It was plain there was much latent energy behind the workers, and that when they got ready they could move away from their rivals.

For the first half mile the crews held together with the Oxford shell about three feet in the lead. Then the Oxford coxswain called for a trifle more steam. The effect was instantaneous and slowly, but quickly, the Oxford shell forged to the front.

In a frantic effort to stave off defeat as long as possible, the Cambridge crew ran their stroke to thirty-eight and held it there, but the power was at the other craft, and for all practical purposes the race was already over.

At Harode, the halfway point, Oxford had pulled into a clear lead of one mile. Following instructions, Oxford then slackened up a trifle. Cambridge then made up about three-quarters of a length. At the three-mile point, both crews were rowing a perfect thirty-four stroke and Oxford's lead was exactly two lengths. Then Oxford began to realize on its reserve power and in a few seconds the most ardent of the Cambridge followers realized that there was no hope. About this time the sides, which had become overcast, opened and a heavy hailstorm swept over the river. It was accompanied by a renewed gust of wind, but there was little water missed, as the shells had been equipped with wash boards.

In the last mile and half the Oxonians simply rowed away from Cambridge and won as they pleased by six open lengths.

Considering the unfavorable weather conditions the form of both of the crews was good.

The official times for the Oxford crew at the various points were:
Start, 4 minutes 47 seconds;

Gathered in Local Garages

R. A. Blenner, who represents the White Car in Richmond, has just received an order from McGraw & Yarbrough for a one and one-half ton White truck for their plumbing and supply business on South Eighth Street. This truck will have an especially designed body for this particular business and will be ready for service about April 15. McGraw & Yarbrough debated for a considerable length of time as to whether the motor truck would be the best thing for their delivery department. After thoroughly investigating the matter and having the motor truck recommended by a number of firms throughout the country, and after having several trucks of other makes demonstrated to them, they decided on the White.

Mr. Blenner has also sold a White truck to Henry W. Rountree, of this city, to be used at his retail trunk and bag store, at 705 East Broad Street. This vehicle will also have a regular express body. Mr. Rountree found that his business had increased to such proportions it was necessary to put on a motor truck. The long hauls demanded by suburban residents also necessitated the use of a motor truck.

The announcement that motor busses are to be introduced in Porto Rico for public transportation purposes has brought out the fact that our little tropical island possesses already 756 automobiles—which surprises even the most enthusiastic believers in the advantages of Americanization. Furthermore, all but very few of the cars are of American build.

Porto Rico is very deficient in means of getting about that appeal to the Anglo-Saxon idea of comfort, convenience and speed. The ox cart, which for three centuries has done all the heavy carrying, is still in general use there, and except for one steam railroad and a single trolley line, at Ponce, and a single horse-drawn bus, which, by the way, was an American innovation—horses and saddles represented the island's rapid transit facilities until the arrival of the automobile salesman from "the States."

D. D. Phillips, of London, England, formerly district manager for the Haynes' Automobile Company, of Kokomo, Ind., has accepted the position as sales manager with the Shenandoah Motor Company of this city.

"The outlook for the spring automobile business in Richmond is most encouraging," says Lee A. Folger, of the Gordon Motor Company, "and indications are that more motor cars will be delivered in Richmond within the next two months than during any former corresponding period.

"Not only in numbers, but in the grade of cars being sold, are we able to see that the general business is in a most healthful state.

"Richmond buyers are conservative to the extent that they demand standard high grade cars because of the ultimate economy in a purchase of this kind.

"Our own business on Chalmers and Packard cars has been most gratifying, and shows a steady increase.

"This can be attributed only to the fact that those cars sold in the past have made good and have rendered satisfactory service.

"We are now busy on spring deliveries of our 1912 models, which we are receiving in quantities at regular intervals."

COLLEGE PLAYS M'GUIRE'S TEAM

Richmond College and McGuire's will play a game of baseball on the college campus to-day. The game will begin at 4 o'clock. Interest in this game is great because of the fact that McGuire's has an unusually strong team. Another reason why the game will be closely watched is that McGuire's on Saturday gave an awful drubbing to William and Mary, one of the colleges in the State to compete for the Eastern Virginia Intercollegiate baseball championship.

BIG LEAGUERS WIN FROM PETERSBURG

Petersburg, Va., April 1.—The Boston Nationals won easily from the local club this evening by a score of 14 to 4, in a game in which clean, effective hitting and fast base running featured by Peterborough for twenty-one hits, with a total of forty bases. Barrett at first played a brilliant game for the Gobblers, and in fact becoming a favorite with the fans. Simons, third seems to be a sure winner. Langan and Wolf, catchers, are both showing up well, and will be rounded in form by the time the league opens.

At Norfolk: Boston Nationals (Yankees), 13; Norfolk, Virginia League, 4.

Philadelphia, April 1.—The Philadelphia Nationals took another game from the world's champion Athletics to-day by the score of 6 to 2.

Washington, April 1.—The Washington American League club whitewashed the Catholic University team here to-day, 7 to 0.

Atlanta, Ga., April 1.—The Toronto team, of the International League, defeated the Atlanta team, of the Southern Association, in a ten-inning game here this afternoon, 3 to 5.

At Athens: Buffalo (Internationals), 5; University of Georgia, 0.

At Columbia, S. C.: Columbia (S. A. L.), 1; University of South Carolina, 5.

At Due West, S. C.: Erskine College, 4; Charleston College, 1.

At Clinton, S. C.: Presbyterian College, 6; Furman University, 4.

Bowling

Only one series was rolled in the Palace Bowling League last night. Hub Clothing Company taking two out of three from the Richmond Bowling Club. The scores were exciting, although the totals were not high. Brown had the highest total in three games, 254, with Smith and McGraw following. Lohmann had the high single game, 114.

The Aces and Remingtons game was postponed. Scores in "Turkey Trot" tournament up to date are as follows:

Remingtons Win.
The Remingtons wound up their series of the Aces and Remingtons, and by some hard bowling laid the series by a good margin. Captain Smith made some beautiful spares in the last game, and the Aces, in a very difficult five-ten spare, which brought forth rounds of applause from the great crowd of spectators present.

The race for the leadership of the Richmond Bowling Association is a close one, and their next series with the Aces will be the deciding series. Coxy put up some good scores, securing both high score and high total, with Captain Smith second. The scores:

GASOLINE ASSAULT

Negro Hit His Father-in-Law Over Head With Bottle of It.
As the result of a family quarrel, Alfred Wyatt, colored, yesterday afternoon hit his father-in-law, Tobias Crawford, who lives in the rear of 120 West City Street, on the head with a quart bottle of gasoline. The assault took place at Brook Avenue and Leigh Street. The older man was severely injured about the head and face. He was removed to his home, where it was necessary for Dr. J. H. Hulcher, city ambulance surgeon, to face slight stitches in a scalp wound.

Wyatt was arrested by Officers Andrews and Fisher, and at the Second Police Station was charged with felonious assault.

SENIORS EXPECT TO REPEAT DOSE

College athletes, especially in Richmond, will be interested in the intercollegiate baseball games scheduled for the campus of Richmond College during the few weeks which yet remain of the college baseball season. Last year a cup was offered to the class team winning the championship. The then seniors, now the Juniors, are deprived of an opportunity to get together a real team. However, the fight promises to be warm. The first game was scheduled for yesterday between the Sophomores and Seniors, but conditions prevented. To-morrow the game will be played, and the students will then get a line on the respective merits of the teams.
